Baptists Lose Practice Game

The twilight game last night resulted in a score of 7-3, the Presbyterians winning in a practice game from the Baptists. The Methodists were unable to put a team in the field as a large number of their players were at Medford and a number of the Baptists took the field. They were also unable to muster a full team but a good game was staged. The next game will be between the Christians and Baptists, and the two teams being nearly equal in strength, a fast game may be expected.

BUILD WAGON ROAD DOWN THE ILLINOIS

W. J. Cooley, who was in town a while last week, has but recently returned from a visit to mines he and others own over on the head of Chetco river and in that vicinity, says the Gold Beach Reporter. He reports unusual activity in the mines in that locality. Recent discovery has been made of chrome ore in the Oak Flat country on the Illinois, and preparations are being made to open up a wagon road to the property from Selma. This road would come within four miles of a fine chrome location in which Mr. Cooley is interested, and would give them a chance to work and ship ore from their claim, which has been found by test to contain ore running over 51 per cent chrome. They also have an iron and copper proposition over there that they hope soon to do something with. Adjoining this is the well known Higgins claim, which recently took out $3,200 in gold, and Mr. Cooley was present to get a good look at the yellow metal.

The unusual and urgent demand for certain minerals common to southwestern Oregon seems likely to lead to the development of some prominent mines along the border of Curry and Josephine counties in the near future, as a large amount of development work is being done on promising claims, as well as considerable prospecting.
